NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. REWARD.

If the person who stole my trunk, clothing and papers from the commission store of W. L. Alden, 65 Ohio Levee, last Saturday evening, will return my letters, papers, and such other property as is of no value to any one but myself, he will be liberally rewarded and no questions asked.

G. L. MONROE. DIME TABLE OF THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL B. B. On and after Sunday, May 14th, 1871, the follow-ig time-table will govern the arrival and depart-te of passenger trains at Cairo:

$50 REWARD

On the 15th day of last month, David Smith, a man about five feet six inches in height, black hair and blue eyes, one of which is slightly defective, clean shaven when last seen, about 29 years old, kidnapped a female child three years old from near Biandville. Ballard county, Kentucky. The child is small for its age and delicate in appearance, black eyes, and head thinly evered with light hair, and answers to the name of Borenda Smith. The child always spoke of herselt as "Dody." It is supposed the Smith spoken of took the child into the state of Missouri. To any person who will recover and take her back to Biandville, and leave her is the charge of Mr. John Nickols, lasyer, the above reward will be paid.

The same paper also says: A survey for the Kentucky and Tennessee road, extending from Columbus to Cairo, was made under the joint direction of the Ill. Cen. R. and this Co. Two lines were run, the first leaving the main line 44 miles south of Columbus, and the other passing through the town. Other instrumental examinations are now being made, preparatory to making the final location. The early construction of this road is rendered important by the speedy construction of the Cairo and Vincennes railroad and the short line from Cairo to St. Louis. These roads will concentrate a large traffic at Cairo, which will force a southern connection by rail, and the M. & O. R. should be the first to make it."
